The MAP: A Resource Guide for Older Adults in Henderson County

As we age, life presents us with both new opportunities and unexpected challenges. We hope the MAP: An Aging Resource Directory for Henderson County serves as a trusted guide—helping you navigate the journey of aging with greater ease, clarity, and connection. Whether you're exploring new paths or facing unexpected turns, may this resource point you toward the support and services you need along the way.

Our vision is simple yet powerful: No One Ages Alone. This belief drives everything we do—from the services we provide to the partnerships we nurture.

The MAP: A Resource Guide for Older Adults was created by Mountain Aging Partners formerly the Council on Aging for Henderson County with the goal of providing older adults, families, caregivers, and human service professionals with an easy-to-navigate directory with user-friendly language to connect with local resources.

Like any map, this guide includes a key to help users navigate the directory and easily find the resources they need. Each section is color coded and provides a brief description and terms.

Note: Where dates and/or hours of operation are listed, we recommend you call the organization to confirm in case changes have occurred.

Mountain Aging Partners, a regional Council on Aging initiative. MAP is a nonprofit organization providing essential services that help older adults stay healthy, connected, and supported as they age.

Mountain
Aging
Partners

Our programs include:

Meals on Wheels & Community Dining

Nutritious meals delivered to homes or shared in social settings.

Caregiver Support & Community Resource Coordination

Helping families navigate aging challenges, including heat-relief assistance and access to services.

Adult Day Health & Day Care

Offered at our Hendersonville and Asheville centers, this program provides a safe, engaging, and affordable alternative to nursing home care.

With over 55 years of experience, MAP ensures that no one has to age alone.

Disclaimer: Every effort has been made to provide a thorough and accurate listing of services for older adults and their families. Inclusion does not imply endorsement, and exclusion should not be seen negatively. While we aim to keep the information up-to-date, errors may exist. Mountain Aging Partners does not endorse listed services nor make negative statements about those excluded.

Adult Services - Fraud Prevention

WHY REPORT: IT'S THE LAW! Fraud/Abuse Prevention and Reporting

North Carolina's Attorney General's Office is very active in helping consumers avoid fraud and exploitation. Its Consumer Protection Section uses mediation to help consumers resolve complaints in such areas as telemarketing. Its Citizens' Rights Section provides information on victims' rights issues, elder abuse, and other matters important to older consumers.

Sometimes, additional customized assistance is needed. In such cases, individuals and/or their loved ones may choose to privately hire supplemental services defined below:

Home Care Agencies

These agencies provide personal care, including assistance with bathing, dressing, medication reminders, and monitoring of vital signs. They may also provide companion services such as meal preparation, transportation for errands, and general support. In addition, some agencies may offer skilled nursing services.

Companion Agencies

These agencies provide non-medical companion aides who assist with tasks such as meal preparation, running errands, and offering companionship.

Care Manager / Care Navigator

A care manager or navigator is a professional who helps guide families through the process of caring for an older adult, offering support, coordination, and planning assistance.

Home Health Agencies (see Medical and Mental Health section for listings)

Home Health agencies differ from Home Care agencies in that they provide skilled care prescribed by a physician and are typically covered by insurance. Services are delivered by licensed clinicians—such as nurses, therapists (physical, occupational, speech), and medical social workers—and are provided for a limited time based on a specific plan of care tied to medical needs and outcomes.

Please Note: Providers of these customizable services can change frequently, and each offers a unique set of services and approaches. Because there are many providers in our region, we are unable to list them all here.

We do not endorse or recommend any specific provider(s) and strongly encourage you to check references and conduct criminal background checks when selecting a provider.

If you need additional information on how to locate or research service providers, please contact our office directly at (828) 692-4203

Legal

Older adults sometimes need legal help. For those who cannot afford private services, Legal Aid of North Carolina, Inc. offers assistance with civil matters. Some private attorneys also volunteer through pro bono programs, often coordinated with Legal Services offices. The North Carolina Bar Association can help identify attorneys and provides resources, including the Senior Citizens Handbook (available in English and Spanish), which covers basic rights, opportunities, and common concerns for older adults. Copies are available at local senior centers.

The North Carolina Lawyer Referral Service, part of the NC Bar Association Foundation, connects callers with attorneys based on location and legal need. A 30-minute consultation costs no more than $30. Some attorneys may offer a free brief consultation, so it's important to confirm fees in advance. Call 1-800-662-7660, Monday–Friday, 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Contact the Pro Bono Project of the North Carolina Bar Association at 1-800-662-7407 for a referral to a pro bono program.

An elder law attorney is a lawyer who specializes in helping older adults and their families with legal issues related to aging.

They often assist with things like:

- Estate planning (wills, trusts, powers of attorney)
- Long-term care planning and paying for nursing home care
- Guardianship and conservatorship
- Public benefits like Medicaid and Veterans' benefits
- Protecting assets and planning for incapacity

If you need legal help with aging-related issues, the National Academy of Elder Law Attorneys (NAELA) is a great resource. Their members specialize in areas like public benefits, estate planning, guardianship, and long-term care.

To learn more or find an elder law attorney near you, visit www.naela.com/public

Legal

Legal Aide

Provides legal services to North Carolina residents. The Senior Law Project helps with public benefits, unemployment compensation, housing concerns, consumer issues, wrongful repossession, and power of attorneys/ wills. This is for people who are 60+.
